To whom it may concern,

I hereby would like to tell you that I would abhor having to travel in a plane full of cell phone users.

If necessary, please limit cell phone use in planes, to the first and last 15 minutes of the flight.

Dear Mr. Powell:

My name is Marie Bruns and I am writing because I was struck recently by the new issue of allowing cell phones on airplanes. Having traveled to various places by means of our nation's air transportation I was astonished that the Federal Communication Commission was even considering allowing cell phones inside the airplane cabin during flight.

Interested by this new issue I began to broaden my knowledge and researching a variety of sources. First, I wanted to know the exact procedures governing cellular phone usage on airplanes. I came across this information from the Federal Communication Commission stating that all cellular telephones may not be operated while the aircraft is off the ground, and the usage of this device must exterminate once the cabin door of the airplane is closed in preparation for flight. I was also interested as to why cellular phones were not presently allowed and found several reasons. One being that the cellular phones radio waves can interfere with the technology used for flying the planes, as well as many people's personal preferences for peace and quiet during airtime.

Upon finding this information from the Federal Communication Commission and many other citizen's preferences, I do feel that it is imperative to not allow cell phones to be used on airplanes. Living in a vibrant and swiftly moving world I think that the time many people spend in flight is the only time allowed for peace and quiet from our surroundings. Even though allowing cellular phone use may seem as a positive and appreciated convenience to some, it may interfere with the technology of the airplane. I don't believe that it is worth risking the safety of many people's physical lives just to meet the needs of a few social lives.

With this issue at stake for the Federal Communication Commission and the Federal Aviation Administration, I believe that all considerations for allowing the use of cellular phones in the airlines should be halted. These agencies have made the correct decision by not allowing the use of these devices, and I believe that they should stand firm with the precedent that they have set.

I want to thank you for your time in reading my view point on this issue, and my hope is that you would take these things into thoughtful consideration.

Sincerely,

Marie Bruns

PLEASE DO NOT SPEND ANY MORE TIME OR MONEY TO DETERMINE IF/HOW/WHEN TO ALLOW PASSENGERS TO USE CELL PHONES ON COMMERCIAL FLIGHTS. JUST SAY "NO". WE ARE BARRAGED WITH CELL PHONE YELL MOST EVERYWHERE WE GO. HAVING TO PUT UP WITH IT IN SUCH TIGHT QUARTERS AS A COACH SEAT IS SURE TO CAUSE TEMPER TO FLARE AND PUT PEOPLE IN SERIOUS DANGER OF BEING CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF VERBAL AND/OR PHYSICAL FIGHTS. FOR WHAT? ALL OF THESE OH SO IMPORTANT PEOPLE CAN SHUT UP FOR A FEW HOURS WHILE IN FLIGHT AND THEN YAMMER AWAY AFTER THE PLANE SAFELY LANDS.

THANK YOU,

PLEASE DO NOT LIFT THE BAN OF CELL PHONES ON AIRLINES!

Cell phones are annoying enough in the terminals. Listening to cell phone conversations on planes where you cannot get away from them would be a nightmare.

RE: CELL USE IN AIR

DEAR FCC,

PLEASE DO NOT ALLOW
CELL PHONE USE ON AIRLINE FLIGHTS.
FLYING IS ALREADY TENSE WITH LOUD CONVERSATIONS AND CRYING
CHILDREN. AS SOMEONE WHO FLIES
SEVERAL TIMES EACH YEAR, I AM
ABSOLUTELY AGAINST CELL PHONES
ON PLANES. PLEASE KEEP THE BAN IN PLACE. THANK YOU.
